

WELCOME TO BOXCAR

Opened in 1994, Boxcar Cantina features an authentic Northern New Mexican cuisine, which moves beyond typical Southwest/Tex-Mex food. The Southwest is actually divided into distinct regions, each with its own cooking style and heritage. While each has its roots in Mexican cooking, Northern New Mexican is a blend of the three cultures—Native American, Spanish and Anglo-European.

GREEN RESTAURANT CERTIFIED

Boxcar Cantina is the first restaurant in Connecticut to be certified by the Green Restaurant Association, a national, non-profit organization working to create an environmentally sustainable restaurant industry. It provides services in research, consulting, education, marketing and community organizing. To learn more about the Green Restaurant Association, visit www.dinegreen.com.

GOURMAVIAN

GourmAvian located in Bolton, CT raises heritage breed chickens. These chickens have been fed grains free from chemicals and pesticides and were raised without antibiotics, hormones, or drugs as part of their diets. The birds grow slowly, in a stress-free, clean environment with fresh air, sunshine, and plenty of room to roam!

OX HOLLOW

Ox Hollow farm is a diversified, family-operated farm nestled in Roxbury, CT. Established with the mission of providing hormone and antibiotic-free products, Ox Hollow raises all stock on the farms acreage utilizing rotational grazing to expose animals to full pasture spring through fall months. During the winter months the animals are kept in an open housing with a free environment, offering hay and corn silage, all grown and processed at Ox Hollow Farm.

NIMAN RANCH
Niman Ranch's network of U.S.

family farmers and ranchers raise their animals using traditional methods with no antibiotics and no added hormones—ever. These humane, environmentally sustainable practices produce meats that are wonderfully rich in flavor.
